An Island steeped in history and folklore; it is the perfect spot for a family day out.

Rathlin Island lies 5.5 miles off the coast of Ireland. Situated just off the coast of Ballycastle it is home to one of the largest bird sanctuaries in Northern Ireland. An island steeped in history and folklore, it is the perfect spot for a family day out.

Many tales of myth and mystery surround Rathlin; perhaps the most famous tells of Robert the Bruce. In 1306, the Scottish King was driven from Scotland by Edward I of England and took refuge on Rathlin, where he watched a spider persevering repeatedly to bridge a gap with its web. Eventually it succeeded. Taking heart from the spider's efforts, he returned to Scotland and eventually regained his crown.

EXHIBITIONS

Sat 31 March - Sat 26 May
Flowerfield Arts Centre

PILGRIMAGE, SARAH CARRINGTON

In 563 AD St Columba left the north coast of Ireland to travel by coracle to Scotland, settling on the isle of Iona, off the western tip of Mull. There, he founded a monastery and began his Christian mission. For centuries, pilgrims and artists have journeyed to Iona to visit this 'thin place' - where many believe the gap between heaven and earth to be very narrow. In this beautiful exhibition, Sarah explores Columba's coastlines, from the north of Ireland to Iona, in a series of paintings and drawings.

FRAMEWORK
Exhibition by Alacoque Davey

Roe Valley Arts & Cultural Centre

An exhibition of new works on paper and small assemblages by Belfast based artist Alacoque Davey.

Using the concept of 'framework' as a device within which to explore the relationship between space and the elements placed within, Alacoque's artwork plays with geometric forms and line; an enquiry into balance, alignment and placement. Central to the theme of the work is the idea of absence and the ambiguity of empty space. Working across several disciplines including ceramic, print, drawing and painting, Alacoque studied at John Moores University Liverpool graduating with a BA Hons in Fine Art before gaining an MA from Ulster University. She has been a member of Queen Street Studios Belfast since 2003 and has exhibited widely including Denmark this Autumn.
